ARANGO VILLA'S REAL NAME

"Special Interests in League

tration," He Claims

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 28.—Through Roberto V. Presque, a local representative in the United States, Carranza has received a personal appeal to President Wilson and the state department protesting against the recognition of Francisco Villa and the friendship of the United States for Francisco Villa. The statement was forwarded to the White House. It was Carranza's first direct appeal. It is bitter in its nature. The statement reads in part:

"We have every reason to believe that the accredited representative of the American government (George C. Carothers) has sold out to Francisco Villa alias Donato Arango. This is his true name. He has assumed the name of Francisco Villa only for reasons known to himself and his associates. We will tell what crimes his true name of Donato Arango has committed. We should like the state department and the American public to know.

"At the very moment that he was opening friendly relations for the United States he was threatening to invade the nation at El Paso and declared to his closest advisers that he would conquer the nation in a few months' campaign. When a few months ago Arango was declaring that the conduct of the United States was justified in the Vera Cruz matter he was at the same time wearing vengeance upon this nation.

"I think the Washington correspondent expects to see the name of Donato Arango in the future. He is the man who has been the special interests that have played such an important part in American politics and sustained the corrupt administration of the past are in league with this same Donato Arango."

War Situation in Paragraphs

The German and Austrian troops in Russian Poland are falling back before the Russians, but the Germans are pushing their attacks in north-east Belgium. Thus the German government summarizes in official statements the situation of its forces in the two war zones.

The withdrawal in Poland is before reinforcements in the Russian lines advancing from Lwow, Warsaw and Novogorodsk.

On the Meuse front, in Belgium, where for days the dikes have been vigorously disputing every inch of ground the Germans have on drayped to cross to reach their objective Calais, the of fence of the Germans is said by the French to be moderating.

The French Claim to Have Made Slight Gains Between La Basse and Lens

Elsewhere along the line in Belgium there were no operations worthy of mention.

Of the situation along the Yser river the Belgian government said the German artillery fire had slackened, having been "subdued" by the guns of the fleet, and that the position of the allies had improved.

French Advancing Slowly Along the Meuse Between

Poland; Russians Claim Successes in Galicia; Portugal Drawn Into War; Holland Fears an Attack

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The limit of human endurance has been reached in the battle of West Flanders, and the fighting, which slackened yesterday, came to an almost complete stop today. There may have been some infantry attacks, and the fighting may continue, but dispatches from points along the Dutch frontier state that the artillery firing has ceased, and passes-guns crossing the channel tonight bring the same news.

It was this, doubtless, that led to the report coming from northern France that the Germans had retired, having given up their attempt to reach the channel ports.

The fact is the two armies have fought themselves out temporarily, and the Germans' first effort to break through the allies' lines has failed. Neither side could continue longer, the men having been without sleep or rest for the 10 days that the battle has been in progress over ground which at present is a morass.

The Germans succeeded last Saturday in getting some men across the Yser canal and they put more men across Sunday. But the force facing them was too formidable and now the opposing armies are taking a long needed rest.

Says America Is Too
Toward His Opponent;
Protests Carothers

ARANGO VILLA'S REAL NAME

"Special Interests in League
With Corrupt Administration," He Claims

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 28.—Through Roberto V. Pasquero of this city, Carranza's accredited diplomatic representative in the United States, Gen. Venustiano Carranza from Mexico City tonight sent a personal appeal to President Wilson and the state department protesting against the activities of George C. Carothers and the friendship of the United States for Francisco Villa. The statement was forwarded to Washington for transmission to the White House. It was Carranza's first direct appeal to the United States. The statement reads in part:

"We have every reason to believe that the accredited representative of the American government, George C. Carothers, has sold out to Francisco Villa, alias Donato Arango. This is his true name. He has assumed the name of Francisco Villa only for reasons known to himself and history alone will tell what crimes his true name, of Donato Arango, may have committed. We should like the state department and the American public to know.

"At the very moment that he was opening friendly relations for the United States, he was threatening to invade the nation at El Paso and declared to his closest advisers that he would conquer the nation in a few months' campaign. When a few months ago Arango was declaring that the conduct of the United States was justified in the Vera Cruz matter, he was at the same time swearing vengeance upon this nation.

"I think the Washington administration, and especially Mr. Wilson, should know, in view of the hostile spirit which the special interests that have played such an important part in American politics and sustained the corrupt administration of the past are in league with this Donato Arango."

RESERVE TRANSFER MUST BE MADE IN GOLD, SAYS BOARD

Will Mean the Least Possible
Disturbance to Business
Various Cities

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The federal reserve board tonight decided all banks that are members of the new system that gold or lawful money must be used in making the transfer of reserve deposits from the member banks to the federal reserve banks. This action is designed to fill the vaults of the 12 reserve banks with money at once and will permit the new system of federal reserve notes to be put into circulation.

The board announced also that this action will apply to subscriptions to be made to the capital stock of reserve banks by the member institutions. The first installment of which is due November 2. The transfer of reserves will begin after the opening of the treasury's new gold vaults, which will be completed by November 15.

The federal reserve board tonight also decided that the member banks, large and small, shall be given the right to make their own arrangements for the transfer of their reserves to the new system, the greatest possible disturbance to business conditions in any city or section.

It is of course, clear that if the banks in non-reserve cities undertake to make the necessary deposits of reserves with their federal reserve banks by depositing checks or drafts on banks in reserve cities (which checks or drafts can be received by the federal reserve bank for collection only), there may result unnecessarily heavy withdrawal of funds from the banks in reserve cities. To the same manner of banks in reserve cities make remittances of checks or drafts on banks in central reserve cities an unnecessary burden may be placed upon the latter.

The deposits of reserves with the federal reserve banks must be made in gold or lawful money and it is considered that the withdrawal of funds from the vaults of member banks will be nearly uniform as possible and will be distributed as to reserve any particular portion of unnecessary burden. The federal reserve board under all banks to ship from their own vaults gold or lawful money. The federal reserve banks have been authorized to accept and pay the express charges involved in making such shipments.

Won't Disturb Business

The board's announcement in part follows:

"The secretary of the treasury having advised the federal reserve board that formal notice of the establishment of the several reserve banks will be given to all member banks November 16, it is necessary that arrangements be made now for the transfer of required reserves to the member banks on that date. It is the desire of the board to arrange for the actual transfer of the first installment in such a manner as to create the least possible disturbance to business conditions in any city or section.

"It is of course, clear that if the banks in non-reserve cities undertake to make the necessary deposits of reserves with their federal reserve banks by depositing checks or drafts on banks in reserve cities (which checks or drafts can be received by the federal reserve bank for collection only), there may result unnecessarily heavy withdrawal of funds from the banks in reserve cities. To the same manner of banks in reserve cities make remittances of checks or drafts on banks in central reserve cities an unnecessary burden may be placed upon the latter.

The deposits of reserves with the federal reserve banks must be made in gold or lawful money and it is considered that the withdrawal of funds from the vaults of member banks will be nearly uniform as possible and will be distributed as to reserve any particular portion of unnecessary burden. The federal reserve board under all banks to ship from their own vaults gold or lawful money. The federal reserve banks have been authorized to accept and pay the express charges involved in making such shipments.

Deposits Should Be in Gold.

The foregoing suggestions also apply to payments on account of the first installment of capital stock due November 2.

"In view of the advantage to be derived from the use of gold for federal reserve notes, it is strongly urged by the board that deposits of reserves to the federal reserve banks be made so far as practicable in gold or gold certificates.

"Due notice of the establishment of federal reserve banks November 16 will be sent each member bank by the secretary of the treasury and no transfer to reserves can be made until this is done.

"Member banks of large resources will greatly facilitate the physical work of counting reserve money if they send gold certificates in as large denominations as possible, or clearing house orders calling for gold certificates or gold already counted by the clearing houses."

King Albert of Belgium, who has been forced, at the joint of the bay and the high siege guns to establish his capital on French soil. Up until times that he has stood to his brave soldiers at Liège to hold out against the Germans, few people had heard much of Albert Leopold Clemens maria, King of the little country whose fertile fields have been the battle ground for centuries. There are few things that this accomplished king could do or has not done. He fights, as well the Germans know, he swims, he flies, he is a pilot, he is an aviator, he is an expert in the use of aeroplanes and is an engineer and author of no mean ability. As a newspaper correspondent he made his mark in Brussels and Antwerp. He is an adventurous traveler and spent some time in the United States in 1898.

THE NEXT SECRETARY OF STATE

EVERYBODY in Colorado knows, or ought to know, that the conduct of the office of Secretary of State for the last six years has been nothing less than a scandal. Under the administration of Secretary Pearce, a politician of the lowest type, it has been a nest for the hatching of every conceivable kind of chicanery and wrongdoing, with a good deal of rank corruption mixed in. It would be hard to imagine a worse condition in an important public office, or one for which there is greater need of a complete change. Moreover, the Democratic candidate for the place is the notorious E. V. Brake, whose unsavory record as labor commissioner is unpleasantly familiar to everybody.

These are sufficient reasons why every citizen who wishes to put an end to these disgraceful conditions should rally to the support of Mrs. Agnes L. Riddle, the Progressive candidate. Mrs. Riddle possesses all the qualifications for the place. She has been actively engaged in various phases of public life in Colorado for many years, and possesses a fund of hard common sense which, with her indefatigable energy, admirably fits her for the task of reestablishing the office of the Secretary of State on a basis of efficiency and honesty.

Don't forget to put a cross mark (X) opposite Mrs. Riddle's name when you prepare your ballot next Tuesday.

ALWAYS A REACTIONARY

PERHAPS there are people who are unable to see the inconsistency in the position of the editor and part owner of a daily newspaper who, as a candidate for State Senator, cannot muster up sufficient courage to state his views on prohibition squarely and fairly to his readers in a campaign in which prohibition is the principal issue. If so, there is no lack of other reasons for withholding their support from Mr. Elliot, the Republican nominee.

Whoever is familiar with Mr. Elliot's editorial expressions throughout the last ten or twelve years knows that he is a reactionary and standpatter of the most pronounced type. His political ideas and beliefs are of a kind curiously inconsistent with those which now dominate public thought. He is uncompromisingly against everything new, everything modern, everything progressive, everything which looks toward the advancement of popular government.

He is against direct primaries. He is against the initiative and referendum and the recall. The good old way of doing everything in politics and government, national, state and municipal, is good enough for him. He believes that if the country could get along forty years ago with methods now universally discredited, it had better plug along in the same old way than run the risk of trying something new.

Mr. Elliot's views on social and economic subjects, the relations between labor and capital, and the attitude of government toward the working classes, are well known to those who read his paper throughout the recent industrial disturbances in this state. If there ever was a gleam of suspicion in his mind that possibly the strikers had some shred of justification for their course, it never was reflected in his editorials. He believes in labor unions when they are conducted according to his ideas of what they should be, which means that he believes in labor unions conducted by, for and in the interest of the employer regardless of the interests of the employee. As a trivial, but nevertheless characteristic evidence of this feeling, he even left the printers' union label off the leaflet printed for distribution to further his candidacy.

Do the people of El Paso County want to send to Denver, as their representative in the Senate, a man so stubbornly devoted to discarded and discredited political ideas? We live in the Twentieth Century; we are looking forward, not backward; we want to make real and substantial progress in politics and government as well as in the other affairs of life. We cannot do it by sending to the Legislature a man whose ideas on these subjects date from the days of Mark

Hanna and other preachers of the doctrine that the party must follow the corporations and the people must follow the party.

THE COUNTRY SCHOOLS

THE only vacancy on the Progressive ticket in El Paso County is for the position of County Superintendent of Schools. Therefore the Progressive vote will be cast for the candidates of the other parties, and since one of the fundamental principles of progressivism is the election to office of the fittest persons, we hope that the members of the party will support Mrs. Inez Johnson Lewis, the Democratic nominee.

Mrs. Lewis served as County Superintendent for four years, from 1909 to 1912, and established a record as the most thoroughly efficient superintendent the county has ever had. She assumed the office with long experience as a teacher in the local public schools, and from the beginning displayed a clear understanding of the needs of the country schools and keen sympathy with the needs and conditions of patrons, pupils and teachers. It is a fact that at the present time, nearly two years after her retirement from this work, she is the almost unanimous choice of the people in the rural districts who are directly concerned in the conduct of the schools of this class.

As County Superintendent Mrs. Lewis adhered to a progressive policy. Her constant effort was to place all rural schools on a higher plane of efficiency. She was instrumental in securing better salaries, which means better teachers. She cooperated with the people of the rural districts for improved conditions, so that the country child would have an equal chance with the city child.

It was she who organized the El Paso County Teachers Association and established the Calhan High School. She created a spirit of cooperation between school boards and teachers, and urged measures for the protection of the health and comfort of the pupil. Wherever financial conditions justified it she urged the school to provide wagons to carry the children to and from school, where the distances were too great for walking, as is often the case in eastern El Paso.

The administration of the country schools in this county is an altogether different problem from that presented by the city schools. It requires a thorough knowledge of conditions and persistent personal work. There is no doubt that conditions in the country schools are far less satisfactory now than during Mrs. Lewis' term, and the way to restore their former efficiency is to elect her next Tuesday.

IT'S UP TO BIRDSALL

IF Mr. George Birdsall, Sheriff of El Paso County and candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket, values his reputation for integrity he will lose no more time in answering the charges made against him by Charles M. Hobbs, Progressive candidate for Sheriff, in signed advertisements printed in The Gazette on the last two Sundays.

These charges are specific. They cite names, dates, and the sums of money concerned in each transaction. Birdsall is accused of a species of petty grafting which amounts to systematic robbery of the County covering a period of several years. If the charges are true the sums thus pilfered must aggregate thousands. If the charges are true Birdsall is the last man in El Paso County to be entrusted with this office. If they are true he is a despicable grafter who should not merely be defeated for reelection, but prosecuted for the return of the money.

If the charges are not true it is up to Mr. Birdsall to deny them vigorously and offer satisfactory evidence of his innocence. Eleven days have passed since their first publication, and four days since the publication of the second set of charges. Yet Birdsall remains silent.

If the public to construe this silence as an admission of guilt and an attempt to slip into office for a fourth term by quietly ignoring accusations which, if well founded, must absolutely destroy the confidence of the public in this official?

What is Mr. Birdsall going to do about it?

OPEN PARLIAMENT

THE "EXCLUSIVE" CANDIDATE

To the Editor of The Gazette: The Evening Telegraph, October 27, contains a list of candidates for state senator from El Paso county, as follows:

State Senator Third Senatorial District. (Vote for one.) M. J. Acton, Socialist. David Elliot, Republican. John T. Kavanaugh, Democrat. C. A. Lemmon, Progressive.

On another page can be found another matter, as follows:

The Brotherhood of the First Congregational church will hold a meeting Thursday evening, preceded by a supper at the church at 6:30 o'clock. The program will consist of talks by the three candidates for the state senate: David Elliot, Republican; J. T. Kavanaugh, Democrat; and C. A. Lemmon, Progressive. Persons not members will be made welcome.

come, but are asked to notify the secretary, E. B. Henson, Main 2747, before Thursday.

On making inquiry why my name did not appear at the head of this list, I was informed that one of these candidates objected to appearing on the same platform with a Socialist. I will bet $7 that it is not the Progressive candidate.

I will bet $3.48 that it is not the Democratic candidate, either.

Every intelligent person desires to hear all sides of the questions that are open for discussion, and I will leave it to the people of Colorado Springs to decide whether or not they consider this a fair and impartial arrangement.

M. J. ACTON. 429 West Wilmamette. Colorado Springs, October 28.

THE DENTAL INFIRMARY

To the Editor of The Gazette: Dr. McKay's excellent letter of October 27 should be read by all. The adults of no nation give so much care to their teeth as Americans, yet their children's mouths too often give evidence of sad neglect.

Undoubtedly this neglect in childhood plays a great part in laying the foundation for many diseases and for the vast number of adult dyspeptics. The best efficiency of childhood can only be maintained by the proper mastication of food, and giving children the opportunity which the free dental infirmary offers is a guarantee for the "hope of the future." There should be no question of raising more than the amount necessary to carry out this work.

GERALD B. WEBB. Colorado Springs, October 28.

SURE, WHY NOT?

To the Editor of The Gazette: An item which has interested me in the present campaign is the arraignment of our congressman by Andy Adams, the local author. The former, on his return, and in an interview granted The Gazette, attributes the attack of Adams to the fact that the latter was not recommended as postmaster of Colorado Springs. Well, why not? In refusing to recognize one of the few acknowledged interpreters of the great west, has Mr. Salomonson preserved the true western spirit?

Better writers than Andy Adams have lived and died in garrets. But we have none who can speak of the old west with a more sympathetic touch. Nor is he alone in his struggle with poverty.

Within a year of her father's death, an invalid daughter of Bret Harte became a charity on the literary circles of London. The last resting place of our own Bill Nye is unmarked today. For 30 years the slave of the man who wrote "Home, Sweet Home," was overgrown with bristles.

A few years ago the American people celebrated the centenary of Poe. Shaw, the Irish dramatist, said about the celebration: "Poe didn't live in America—he was only allowed to die there." The Chinese honor scholars and men of attainment. Why couldn't our congressman?

J. F. UNDERWOOD. Colorado Springs, October 28.

MRS. LEWIS' WORK

To the Editor of The Gazette: Please give me space that I may pay a deserved tribute to Mrs. Inez Johnson Lewis, former county school superintendent, and now a candidate for election to the same office.

Under various school administrations I had taught in several country districts in eastern El Paso county. I feared the advent of one with official sentiments opposite to my own, because I believe the teaching profession should be kept free from partisan taint.

In the first visit of Mrs. Lewis (then Miss Johnson) to my school, my fears were allayed, and on subsequent visits vanished completely. Never have I known a superintendent with such a sympathetic understanding of the trials incident to a country teacher's position, nor one so apt in suggesting remedial methods. This is why the teachers and ex-teachers of eastern El Paso county, irrespective of party leanings, are working, almost as a unit, for the return of Mrs. Lewis to the position she filled with such signal ability, success, and personal charm.

EX-TEACHER. Colorado Springs, October 28.

The Wrong Kind of Praise

BY RUTH CAMERON

"Now that I've met that woman I really like her," a man said to me the other day. "But before I knew her I used to hate her."

"Why?" I asked. "Had someone been slandering her?"

"On the contrary," he said. "I had heard so much praise of her that it turned me against her. Even now when my sister starts singing her praises I shudder at her name, though when I'm with her I like her."

"Too much praise often hurts its object."

I think we have all had experiences like this. And the outcome is not always so pleasant. For we are not always able to overcome our doubts so happily. I must confess there are some perfectly good people whom I have never been able to like simply because I have heard too much said about their virtues.

"Defend me from my friends," says Mithras of the ancients. I can defend myself from my enemies. I wonder if he was thinking of the kind of friend who hurts by overpraising.

Again, praise may do harm by raising one's expectations too high and preparing a sure disappointment.

The other day a friend advised me to read a certain story in a magazine, declaring it was one of the cleverest she had ever read. I did not have time to get at it for several days and twice during that interval she reminded me to be sure and read the story, and repeated her praises. When I finally sat down to read it, of course my expectations were sky high. Finally, of course, I was disappointed in the story and thought it rather commonplace. Yet I think I might have liked that story very much if I had picked it up without being acquainted with it beforehand.

Again, praise from one source will sometimes do more harm than praise from another.

For some praise is really condemnation, and some condemnation is really praise.

You remember in "Shirley" how Robert Moore, the mill owner, is brought to a realization of his own harshness towards his plotting employees by the extravagant praise of some of the other mill owners whom he despises. As Charlotte Bronte puts it, "On abuse, off reproach, on calumny, it is easy to smile, but painful indeed is the pang of those who were calumniated."

Again, when the great American novelist, James Fenimore Cooper, was being vituperated by some of our newspapers his friend, Samuel Morse, the inventor, wrote to him: "They praise you as usual, for it is praise to have the abuse of such as abuse you."

Every human being wants commendation, and in the right quantity and from the right source praise may be a blessing and an inspiration. But like almost all the good things of earth it can be transformed into a burden and a curse.

THE INCOHERENT LADIES' TAILOR

From a CHICAGO ARTIST. Being formerly with R. Oltman one of the most New York leading dress makers, have made a special study of Paris modes which he imported before the War. Cloths blew up.

U lady has a suit made by a real expert tailor which knows how to give real good lines to a garment. No A had better still be improved. And if you have a good figure there is no doubt about it that you can be a better looking woman than the real ladies made garment.

PIRATES

A pirate is a sort of nautical train robber.

He is the worst thing that afflicts the high seas, not even excepting the English Board of Trade safety rules. When a pirate gets loose he cuts down the pleasure of ocean travel about 150 per cent.

The pirate roams the seas in a fast, ravenous vessel and captures merchant ships by adding holes in the captain and other vital spots. When he has subdued a ship he robs the strong box and the passengers with as much care as if he were an eminent financier going through the treasury of a great railroad. Then he blindfolds his captives, ties their hands behind them, and invites them to step off a plank into space. This system makes it extremely difficult for the grand jury to get evidence against a pirate, owing to the distressing lack of witnesses.

"Few people have seen a pirate, but all the magazine illustrators are very familiar with them."

Pirates were once very numerous. They thronged the Spanish Main, captured Panama, bombarded Havana, and fought wars with great Spain. Morgan and La Fitte were famous pirates who washed ashore in blood, and Captain Kidd almost ruined the European tourist trade before he was captured. Gradually, however, almost all the pirates succumbed to scientific treatment and reformed. The way to reform a pirate is to attach him to a yardarm by a stout rope fastened about his neck, with the knot under the left ear. When the deck is reaved from beneath a pirate who has been arranged in this fashion, he becomes exceedingly thoughtful and earnest, and presently gives up his wicked ways.

Few people have seen a pirate, but all the magazine illustrators are very familiar with them. From their pictures we know that the pirate is a low, swarthy man with phenomenal legs, huge boots, and a mustache as wide as a narrow gauge railroad. He wears large brass rings in his ears, a cutlass in his teeth and a handspan handkerchief round his head, and lives on rum. He is as deadly as a New York hoodlum with a cheap revolver, but there are very few of him left, and these are cheap Chinese imitations.

Still, thanks to the ocean regulations which permit a ship owner to save his dividends first and his passengers second, we do not need pirates any more. The pirate was really a slow and unsentimental method of getting rid of humanity.

ENTIRE CONFERENCE WATCHING OUTCOME OF BATTLE AT WASHBURN FIELD ON SATURDAY

Freshmen and Terrors Plow Through Tiger Line Last Night; Coach Rothgeb Giving Men Drill on Following the Ball

It was time for the dinner gong last night when the Tigers received the sign to adjourn from Washburn field to the baths in Coositt hall. It was a grueling practice for the Tigers, and there was not a letup in Coach Rothgeb's program. He had the men practicing falling on the ball; then he had the line changing and then he scrimmaged the players. First he took on the Terrors for a 10-minute bout; finding them weakening he took on the freshmen team and smashed into them for about the same length of time. Then he returned to the Terrors and again to the freshmen, so the Tigers were facing fresh material all the time. Bucking the Terrors this year is not like bucking the ordinary high school eleven. The freshmen also are heavy and know the game. Therefore the scrimmage drill is of the best.

However, during the last two rounds of the encounter the youngsters began to wobble through the Tiger line for long gains. The Terrors pushed the freshmen and the freshmen pushed the Terrors. The Terrors pushed the freshmen and the freshmen pushed the Terrors. The Terrors pushed the freshmen and the freshmen pushed the Terrors.

Call for Mr. Schweiger.
Last night Coach Rothgeb kept after "Kaiser" Schweiger, the big fullback, in an effort to get him into trim for the Boulder game. The German can hit like a Krupp gun if he wants to, and he knocked up last night and howled over several opponents who tried to stop him.

In accordance with his policy of developing his second string men along with those who start the games, the coach sent in all the available candidates on the field, especially on the defense. Bessett is limping around with a slight injury to his ankle, and he is being given a rest from the hard and dangerous work. The Tiger squad now consists of 20 men. Madden having joined during the last week. He is an experienced player and should see some line service this fall.

"Follow the Ball."
Rothgeb is going to take no chances on his team failing to follow the ball, and last night he sent the players drilling after the leather time and time again, making them put lots of ginger into their efforts to recover a loose ball. There are always a number of fumbles in every game, and it is up to the Tigers to watch the ball. Captain Kramer kicked three pretty field goals in scrimmage practice last night. Outside of this there was very little bout work.

Reports from the Boulder camp indicate that Folsom is worried over his line. McBride, Powers and Gannon, the tackles, failed to show up very strongly in the recent game with the Aggies, and most of the Farmer gains were made over these places. The Tiger line will be made the more experienced, but probably will be outweighed. The difference, however, will not be great. Regarding the rumor that Donovan will play in the Tiger game, Coach Folsom has stated that the only in a dire emergency would Donovan play.

Harvard With Brickley Missing Fears Splawn, Michigan's Great Goal Kicker

Battling kicker and halfback of Michigan, champion western eleven, which is scheduled to play against Harvard in the Cambridge stadium on Saturday. Ralid adherents of the Wolverines contend that Splawn is as good a kicker as the great Charles Brickley, and express regret that Harvard's captain will be unable to set in the game a week from Saturday and engage the Michigan kicker in a duel.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 28.—The University of Michigan football team left Ann Arbor this afternoon for Ann Arbor, Mass., where it will finish its practice work for the Harvard game on Saturday. The team will go to Cambridge Friday noon. Twenty-four players were in the squad.

Just before departing, Coach Yost said: "We are going to show Harvard the best we have. It is unfortunate for Michigan that Hught and Splawn are not in the best of condition, and it seems too bad that we can't have Galt in the lineup. But in spite of these drawbacks, we are going to give those easterners a fight."

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 28.—With the football team of the University of Michigan on its way here for Saturday's contest in the stadium, interest increased today. There has been a brisk demand for tickets and it is expected 40,000 persons will be at the game.

The Harvard team today had a long session behind closed gates, going through a protracted scrimmage. All the cripples of last week were in the lineup except Brickley and Soucy.

Mahan dropped three goals from the field in four tries, one of the goals being from outside the 40-yard line.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER

From the looks of things, Colorado Springs will spend Saturday afternoon at Washburn field. The merchants are planning to give their clerks and themselves a chance to see the game and those in charge of the petition are finding but few who will not close up shop for the battle of the giants.

RARE THINGS ARE VALUABLE

"Oh, what is so rare as a day in June?" I'll tell you of something more rare. It's a popular song with never a moon To beam on some maid wondrous fair.

Oh, what is so rare as a day in June? He still and I'll give you the word. A southern mummy unable to croon. Or a joke that has never been heard.

Oh, what is so rare as a day in June? Or an old maid that never gets older. 'Tis a football song, with slingers in tune. Or a Tiger team that walls the Boulder der.

It is rumored that the men of Colorado university are bringing $2,500 in wager on their team's chances against the Tigers. Glancing back three weeks and seeing what the Braves did to the Athletics, one might suggest that they will leave the $2,500 in Colorado Springs, Oh, well, every little bit helps prosperity.

But whatever you say, the conference is maintaining its scholastic standing. Donaldson, star captain-tackle of the Ministers, has returned to his studies.

When Vice President Marshall told the college students the other morning that "all the addresses from the Garden of the Gods" came from Colorado university, he got a greater chance than when he ran for Vice president.

Evidently Stager cannot be transplanted. Norgren has managed to get Flah defeated last.

These little round robin tournaments that have been staged of late in Ramona, the well known annual are not being used to help out the anti-prohibition campaign as far as we can tell. The whole business has a savory odor.

We are indeed glad to find that the Army and Navy have gotten

M'GRAW WILL HAVE A PRETTY GOOD TEAM AT THAT AND HE'LL MAKE 'EM GO IN '15

Giants Not a Bunch of Misfits or Gang of Hope-Wreckers; Have Lots of Fight Left

By FRANK G. MENKE
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Those who are looking for John McGraw to bust up the 1914 Giant machine and leave it into the scrap heap are due for a disappointment. John may do a little tinkering here and there but when the Giant machine of 1915 gets into motion there won't be very many new cogs in its makeup.

There are two reasons why the Giants won't be reassembled entirely. One is that McGraw feels that his 1914 outfit is good enough to grab a pennant if a few weak cogs are removed and some new ones substituted. The other reason is that the most of the 1914 regulars are hooked up by isolated three-year contracts.

McGraw couldn't put his old stars on the market and get value received for them. He couldn't offer them for sale and find many ready buyers, because those who are in the market for players don't want to pay a fancy price for the meek and slow pay fancy salaries to the players for the 1915 and 1916 seasons as would be the case if they bought some of the Giants.

The Giants' pitching staff in 1914 won't look much different than it did in 1913. Mathewson, Tesreau, Marquard and Demaree are attached to the club by contracts that still have two years to run. McGraw wouldn't let Tesreau or Marquard go no matter what offer was made. He will keep Demaree because Steamer Al looks like a real pitcher and he will keep Marquard unless some other club makes him a most tempting offer for the center-left hander.

Contrary to the general belief, McGraw isn't anxious to let Marquard go. He figures that 1914 was "Rube's" off year. He recalls the fact that nearly a dozen of the games that "Rube" lost was not through any real fault of "Rube's" but because the Giants' time and again failed to hit behind him. A half dozen of "Rube's" defeats were 1 to 0 or 2 to 1 affairs.

When a pitcher loses games of that kind it doesn't reflect on his ability—it reflects on the lack of batting power behind him," declared McGraw. "Ever since the middle of July the rank and file of fans have been 'canning' Merkle, the Giant's first sacker. Piling Merkle seems to be one of the annual ways the fans have of entertaining themselves, but unless McGraw finds some star of the first water among his first basing recruits next spring Merkle will be back at his old station. McGraw thinks a lot of Merkle's ability.

Doyle will be back at second next year. He slumped badly this year, both in fielding and hitting, but Doyle normally is a steady fielder and a slinger. Probably he will do a bounce-back in 1915.

Fletcher will be at short again. Outsider Maranville of the Braves, there were better fielding shortstop in the National league. Fletcher is a timely hitter and fast on the paths. McGraw regards him as one of the most valuable players he ever had.

A stranger may be stationed at third when the 1915 season opens. Stock, the 1914 regular, is a good fielder but weak with the stick. Eddie Grant, the alternate, is going back and cannot be looked upon to hold down the job in regular fashion. McGraw has a number of regulars who are candidates for form of the season is arranged for April the job will be made out a season and is to be a 200-mile race for stripped player and may put through some trade back machines.
